

Project Team field visits in Australia 2019

The project team visited Australia in April, 2019. The team participated in the Seeds of Change conference in Canberra and shared research experience and women engagement in project.

Role of caste and culture for women mobility and empowerment was shared among other researchers. Livestock contribution in household's nutrition was one of the highlights by project team during the conference.

Improved extension services and innovation brokering was brought on table and shared with other research stakeholders in conference. Team learned about gender inclusion and women empowerment in developing countries.

Team had also an experience to understand the beef value chain system in Australia. They interacted with value chain actors; supermarket, restaurant, processing plant, feedlot farm and beef breeder farm to understand system of Australian beef value chain

Team looked the Processing and packaging innovation to create values for consumers by Australian meat processors. Chain actors follow the transparent and fair pricing system with product specification to have good relationship. Every chain actor is concerned with animal welfare.
